At VegasHatesMe, our analysis is so rock-solid that you'll feel as though you've won before the game even starts! That's because the information that we attain is so paramount to the end result that our members feel as though they're making an investment the instant they place a bet with us!

Every week, odds makers and sports books have to set the betting lines for every game that's being played across this country. And guess what? They're about as accurate as the guys who do the weather. We realized this through years of researching their reasoning. In fact, we uncovered so many mistakes from the odds makers that it became the genesis for launching this very site.
